

GOPs Feel Ike Will Veto Flood Control Measure

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some congressional Republicans said today President Eisenhower probably will veto a bill authorizing the spending of $1,578,812,000 on river, harbor and flood control projects.

The omnibus flood control bill includes the $33 million Millwood Dam project. A similar bill was killed by Eisenhower last year after Congressional approval.

The President vetoed similar legislation in 1956 on grounds that it contained many projects not approved by administration agencies.

It was understood that Budget Bureau spokesmen pointed out to Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders at Tuesday's weekly legislative conference that the same objections applied to this bill.

Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) said the executive agencies already have approved all but about 6 percent of the projects in the new omnibus bill. Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.) said he understood all 19 projects added to the original Senate-passed bill by the compromise had been approved by the Army Engineers.

However, Sen. Norris Cotton

Two Hempstead Highway Jobs Programmed

The State Highway Commission today programmed the improvement of seven miles on a secondary highway in Hempstead at an estimated cost of $210,000.

The project is on Highway 73 from the Cross Roads to Columbus and will consist of construction, grading, structures, base and surfacing. A contract will not be let until the following conditions have been met:

All required right-of-way free of obstructions will be furnished free of cost to the state; acceptance of the provisions by the County Judge of Hempstead within 60 days and requirements are furnished; program approval by the Bureau of Public Roads.

In other action the Commission programmed a maintenance service on Highway 87 in the city of Hope. The project is from Washington to Banner Streets, a distance of 1.19 miles and will consist of work of resurfacing the existing pavement. Estimated cost of this project is $16,500.

Arkadelphia Farmer Held for Murder

ARKADELPHIA (UP)—A 57-year-old Clark county farmer was held today on a charge of degree murder in the death of his wife Feb. 25.

Clark County Prosecutor Travis Mathis said an autopsy showed the woman died of arsenic poisoning.

Murder charges were pending (UO ST Joseph R. Reining, who was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Buren Hardin and Sergeant Milton Mosier State Police criminal investigator, of Hope.

Mrs. Anna Baird Reining, 53, was admitted to a hospital here Feb. 24 and died the next day. Mathis said he ordered an autopsy after a doctor who attended Mrs. Reining said he suspected she was poisoned.

Mathis said the state medical examiner at Little Rock issued a report indicating Mrs. Reining died of arsenic poisoning.

Reining, formerly of Miami, Fla. and Chicago, married Mrs. Reining last October.

Storm Warning Differs From a Forecast

This is the first of a series of five articles to explain the function of the Hempstead County Storm Warning System. Today we will explain the various types of storm warnings or forecasts that you can expect.

In the event of a severe storm forecast — this is the type of forecast so familiar to the people of this area and is issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau quite frequently each year. Note that this is a forecast and not a warning. It simply informs that the possibility of severe storms exist over a wide area, usually several hundred square miles. If the added forecast, "with the possibility of a few tornadoes" is issued with the severe storm forecast it means there is some possibility that a tornado or two could occur somewhere within the several thousand square mile area. The Hempstead County Storm Warning System will not issue an alert on this type of forecast. KXAR will inform the public of such conditions existing and with this public announcement, all spotters and officials of the Storm Warning System will be alert to the possibility of storms.

Under this type of forecast the public should continue business as usual. Should a severe storm actually develop in this area, the Storm Warning System will go into operation. Tomorrow we will explain the methods used for alarm and the type of storms that will cause a general alert.

Storm Strands Hundreds in High Sierra

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Hundreds of rail and highway travelers were stranded in the High Sierra today by a storm that raked California with torrential rains, hurricane force winds and in impenetrable blanket of snow.

The storm — worst in a half century — was so severe that Gov. Goodwin Knight issued a proclamation making the whole state a disaster area.

Thousands of persons fled their homes in the San Francisco Bay area as rain-swollen creeks overflowed their banks.

The storm took two lives, Richard Chase, 37, drowned when he slipped into swollen Ross Valley Creek in Marin County. In Lake Anderson near San Jose, William Valdivia, 23, former University of California football player, was found drowned when his canoe tipped over in the wild.

The storm moved down the Central Valley and into Southern California early today. As it did so, it left streams and rivers overflowing or nearly so, flooding thousands of acres of land.

At Stockton city officials braced themselves for a crisis. Meanwhile, Southern Pacific crews worked in the High Sierra Nevada Mountains, 38 miles east of Colfax, Calif., to free a mail trail from a snow slide.

The wreck halted the crack transcontinental streamliner, City of San Francisco, in a snowdrift near Norden with 97 passengers aboard.

SP said the passengers aboard the westbound train were "comfortable" with heat and plenty to eat. The train was stopped only three miles from the spot where it was snowed in for several days in 1961.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau warned today of a few severe thunderstorms with possibility of one or two tornadoes are expected today from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. The affected area extends from 60 miles on either side of a line from Filppin, Ark. to Memphis Tenn.

MARSHALL, Ark. (UP)—A tornado struck about a half mile north of Marshall about noon today, causing some property damage but no injuries. The twister struck a farm house owned by Mrs. H. G. Trece and destroyed but no one was home at the time. A room was blown off another house.

Two Fined for Slugging City Manager

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Two men were indicted by the Pulaski County Grand Jury Wednesday on charges of disturbing the peace in connection with the slugging of City Manager Dean I. Dauley at City Hall last week.

Both men, Cecil B. Hill and Dunaway, posted $500 bond and were freed.

The return of true bills by the Grand Jury followed questioning of 21 witnesses concerning the slugging incident in Dauley's office.

Hill and Dunaway faced assault and battery charges today in municipal court.

Otha A. Cook, foreman of the Grand Jury, said the indictment closed the jury's investigation into the slugging.

Hill and Dunaway supposedly burst into Dauley's office after police seeking illegal gambling operations raided Hill's amusement company.

Pulaski County Prosecuting Attorney Frank Holt said he did not believe the indictment puts Hill and Dunaway in double jeopardy.

He said the charge of assault against them by police was a separate and distinct offense from disturbing the peace, the charge made by the grand jury.

Police Department of Houston is reported to have worked out the following 12 rules for raising delinquent children:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up "bad" or "dirty" words, laugh at him. That will make him think he is cute. He will run off and pick up some other words that will blow the top off your head.
3. Never give him any spiritual training until he is 21, then let him decide for himself. By the same logic never teach him the English language. Maybe when he is old enough he may want to speak Bantu.
4. Praise him in his presence to all neighbors, show how much smarter he is than the neighbors' children.
5. Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop in the child a guilt complex. This will prepare him to believe that when he is punished later on for stealing cars or assaulting women, society is against him and that he is being persecuted.
6. Pick up everything after him; his shoes, books, clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing burdens on others.
7. Let him read anything he wants. Have no concern whatever for what goes into his mind. Provide him with lily cups for his lips, but let his brain drink out any dirty container for words and ideas.
8. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will be prepared for broken homes later on.
9. Give him all the spending money he wants; never let him earn his own.
10. Satisfy every craving of the child for food, drinks and everything that has to do with the sense of taste and touch, gratifying every sensual desire.
11. Take his part against policemen, teachers and neighbors. They are all "prejudiced" against your child.
12. When he gets into real trouble, always defend yourself and say, "I never could do anything with him."

Thief Restores $41,000, Faith to a Church

CHICAGO (UP)—A repentant thief has restored two things to Episcopal church officials—$41,000 and faith in their fellow man.

There was even talk of an ex-convict, William A. Smith, 29, his old job at diocesan headquarters here.

Diocesan Treasurer Mend Montemary admitted the church had taken a calculated risk when it hired Smith two months ago. Smith had just finished a prison term for stealing checks.

But Smith's parents and his parish priest were so persuasive, the church decided to give him another chance.

All went well until last Saturday when Smith was sent to a Loop bank to deposit $41,000 in checks and $180 in cash. He hasn't been seen since.

He's been heard from, however. On Monday morning diocesan officials received the checks in the mail and, on Tuesday a money order for the $180.

"A lifetime habit is hard to break," Smith said in an accompanying note.

The ex-convict "must have acted on impulse," Mead said, first taking the money, later returning it on "his own initiative."

A call to Smith's parents and his parish priest disclosed that Smith had had no contact with them. Mead wants the repentant thief to come out of hiding and has promised there will be no prosecution.

"We probably would give him his job back," Montgomery said. "On second thought, we might get him a job somewhere else, where he won't be subject to the same temptation."

Deadline Set for Filing of Petitions

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The attorney general's office today listed deadlines on filing petitions and other dates in connection with the Nov. 4 General Election.

The opinion requested by Secretary of State C. G. Hall said constitutional amendments submitted by the General Assembly must be advertised 26 times within six months before the General Election. That means they should be advertised the week beginning levying an ad valorem tax on property. The state now may levy up to 10 mills on property, but has not levied the tax since the 1947 Legislature.

Another proposed amendment would raise the salaries of members of the Legislature from $1,200 for a two-year term to $1,200 per year, plus $20 per day for each day the legislature is in regular session. The amendment would not change the five-cent per mile travel while the legislature is in session.

The third amendment would allow cities and counties to levy a tax of not more than five mills by approval of a majority of the voters to secure and develop industry.

Referred and initiated measures must be published four times within eight weeks before the election, starting the week of Sept. 7.

The 1957 act increasing the state sales tax from two to three per cent will be on the ballot. Petitions calling for the referendum were circulated by A. H. Washburn, publisher of the Hope Star.

At least one initiated measure may be on the ballot. Former State Sen. James D. Johnson of Crossett is circulating petitions for the measure which deals with segregation in the state.

Initiated petitions must be filed with the secretary of state by July 5, or not less than four months before the election, and must be published once 30 days before the filing.

The attorney general's opinion said that candidates must file for ballot space for the general election by Sept. 20, except independent candidates who must file not later than Sept. 5.

Mexican Labor May Have to Be Imported

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Employment Security Administrator James L. Bland said today it is too early to anticipate whether Mexican laborers will have to be imported to help in cotton harvest next fall.

"It depends on the recession," he explained. "The International Paper Company might have to lay off some workers next week. Shoe plants across the state might have to close down."

His records showed 12,204 persons filed initial claims in March compared to 11,072 in February. A total of $1,777,000 was paid out in benefits, compared to $1,925,732 for the previous month.

Bland said every person applying for unemployment benefits or for a job will be asked if he will accept farm labor, and if not enough accept the work, the foreign workers will be brought in.

"We're going to expose every unemployed person to work on the farm and if there's not enough acceptance, we will import labor," Bland said.

"We will import labor if we can't get enough domestic—it may be necessary. We must have workers to harvest the cotton crop."

Last year 5,482 of the foreign workers were brought in to help in cotton chopping, and 29,174 were used for cotton harvesting. They represented about 10.6 per cent of those engaged in the chopping and about 28.9 per cent of those who worked in the harvest.

The percentages in 1956 were 14 per cent foreign laborers for chopping and 31 per cent for harvesting, according to employment security records.

A breakdown by area showed among others 10,501 foreign workers were brought into the Blytheville area, 10,140 to the Jonesboro area, 2,325 to Forrest City, 1,354 to Newport, and 1,249 to West Memphis.

In 1948 a total of 18,000 Mexican laborers were imported for harvesting, but none for chopping. In 1951, the harvest number swelled to 30,700, then dropped to 28,956 in 1955. The number of Mexicans brought in for chopping in 1951 was 7,900 and in 1955 was 5,482.

Bland said cotton chopping starts around May 15, and he will be able to tell about then whether workers will have to be brought into the state to help harvest cotton.

He said a cotton picker probably averages $7.50 a day, "but some can make $15—it depends on the individual."

Bland said persons will be able to farm work can apply to any of the 34 employment security division offices in the state. The local offices then will notify them of any job openings and after that it will be up to the worker. He couldn't say how many of the unemployed will be able to take the jobs, he employed factory workers would said, but "he wasn't too optimistic."

"A man who was getting $20 a day won't want to work for $7.50," he explained.

Move Surprising as Leaders Did Not Approve

By VINCENT J. BURKE
UNITED PRESS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House today passed a compromise $5,500,000,000 anti-recession highway bill containing a controversial anti-billboard provision.

House passage came on a roll call vote of 290-28.

Opposition to the bill collapsed after members rejected, 222-109, a motion to send the measure back to a House-Senate conference committee for further study.

The top-sided vote on this crucial test came as a surprise because Democratic and Republican leaders had passed the word that they were not pleased with the bill.

They had expected the bill to be recommended.

House passage sent the compromise bill back to the Senate where it was expected to win fast approval, clearing the way for members to depart for a 10-day Easter recess.

House Democratic leaders who had been pushing for fast action on the anti-recession measure, lost their ardor for it when Senate-Senate negotiators unexpectedly inserted the controversial anti-billboard provision.

Republican leaders opposed the measure's big spending feature. But rank-and-file members of the voters' back home to block passage of the measure just be.

New Technique Makes Possible Cancer Surgery

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—University of Wisconsin cancer researchers have disclosed a new "microscopic" chemo-surgery technique which will enable operations on cancer patients "ordinarily considered inoperable."

Doctors and scientists at the university laboratory gave a progress report Wednesday to visiting science writers on their efforts to find the cause and cure for cancer.

The scientists also told of finding that one cancer-causing chemical can immunize animals against some other cancers, evidence that "feedback mechanisms" are disrupted in cancer cells, and the discovery of a strange "unidentified substance" in leukemic blood.

Dr. Frederick E. Mohs said chemo-surgery can destroy hidden growths which cause cancer recurrence through removal of the cancers "under microscopic controls."

The method permits surgery on persons who have had X-ray and radium treatments and ordinary surgery without success, he said.

In another report, Drs. J.A. and E.C. Miller, a husband and wife team, said hydrocarbons which produce skin and other cancer were found capable of protecting rats against liver cancer. However, the chemicals which cause cancer of the liver gave no protection against skin cancer, they said.

Dr. Van R. Potter said research indicates cells become cancerous when they lose their "feedback mechanism" which regulates the rate of cell division.

Potter said normal cells stop cell division when necessary, but in cancer cells "the feedback system never gets formed and the cells never quit dividing."

Dr. Harry Weisman reported that scientists have discovered a "strange substance in leukemic blood" while trying to find out why the skin color of leukemia victims darkens.

Painters Go on Walkout at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—About 75 to 100 painters and another approximately 100 tile workers and their helpers were not at work today in a dispute over pay raises.

W. H. Thomas, of Painters Local 424, said the situation is in "a state of suspension." He explained that the union and contractors have each made an offer, but no negotiations were underway at present. The contract of the painters and tile setters expired Monday night.

Thomas said the painters union wants 25 cents an hour increase over two years, with half of it effective immediately and the other half next April 1. The contractor wants to give 35 cents of the 25 cents increase now, and the rest in six months periods.

Thomas said he didn't think the painter would be out "but for a short time."

The tile workers are seeking 10 cents an hour increase for the next three years to give them an hourly pay of $3.25. The contractors want to pay 25 cents an hour, broken down to five cents every six months until the hourly pay of $3.25 is reached.

The tile helpers are seeking a contract recognizing them as semi-skilled labor.

Canada Will Act Against a Recession

MONTREAL (UP)—John Diefenbaker's progressive-conservative party had a national mandate today to launch a massive public works campaign against Canada's recession.

More than 6,420,000 voters answered Prime Minister Diefenbaker's plea for a "working majority" in the House of Commons by staging a coast-to-coast demonstration of unprecedented political unity.

They gave the Tory government at least 211 out of 265 Commons seats, far exceeding the most optimistic Conservative Party estimate. The Liberals salvaged only some 45 seats.

Diefenbaker promised to convene Parliament "at the earliest possible date." When he dissolved the 23rd Parliament Feb. 1, he mentioned May 5 as the date for the next opening.

The popular vote—at last count, 6,402,013—was below expectations and failed to match the record 6.6 million of last June. The Conservatives got 53.56 per cent of the total, the Liberals, 34.00. A third party, the CCF, got 9.24, and the Social Credit Party

Ford to Promote New German Car

NEW YORK (UP)—Ford Motor Co. announced today it will add six models of its German Taunus line of cars to its small car imports.

The cars will go on sale in May.

It was the second announcement this week of the addition of a new foreign car to the growing U.S. small car market. The first announcement was on the introduction of the French Peugeot.

The Taunus is 2½ feet shorter and a half-ton lighter than American low-price six-cylinder models.

False Start But Spring Gets Here

By UNITED PRESS

After a two-week false start, warm springlike weather crept into Arkansas today.

The mercury climbed to 77 degrees for state highs Tuesday at Fort Smith and Texarkana, were in the high 60's and low 70's at noon today, and were expected to climb into the high 60's and high 70's during the afternoon.

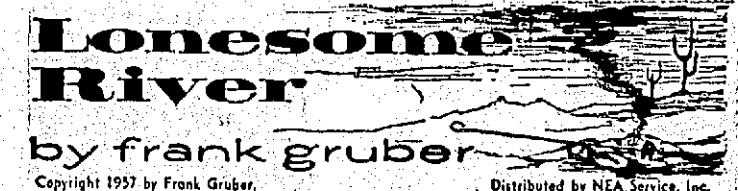

The mid-morning forecast said it would be partly cloudy and mild this afternoon, tonight and Thursday with a few thundershowers in the northwest portion Thursday. Friday will continue partly cloudy and mild.

The extended forecast—Wednesday through next Monday—said temperatures will average near or slightly above the normal maximum of 70 and the normal minimum of 48, with no important daily changes. Precipitation for the period will be light or none in widely scattered thundershowers around the weekend.

Light rain fell in parts of Arkansas during the 24 hours ending at 7 a.m. today. A fraction of an inch fell at Gilbert, Hot Springs, Mountain Home, Little Rock, Ozark and Fort Smith, and traces were measured at Arkadelphia, Batesville, Camden, Flippin and Morrilton.

At 11 a.m. today, skies were cloudy at Texarkana, El Dorado and Pine Bluff, and partly cloudy elsewhere in Arkansas and at Memphis. Texarkana had 88 degrees; Walnut Ridge, 69; Little Rock, El Dorado and Fayetteville 70; Pine Bluff 71, and Flippin, Fort Smith and Memphis 72.

It was predicted that tax cuts would be made this year as an anti-recession move. It also was indicated the new government would take some action to ease unemployment.

THE STORY: Tom Weber, who has been a notorious gunfighter called Tom Fargo for many years, returns home to find that cattle buyers are making things tough for farmers in Lobo Valley. The cattlemen are under the leadership of Mike Denver.

IX
When Tom Weber left Barker, he was driving a buckboard loaded high with lumber, paint, food and supplies. A saddle was on the seat beside him.

It was late afternoon when he reached the ramshackle house of the old Weber farm. He climbed down from the buckboard and saw that Tate Hopkins's belongings still were outside the door where he had dumped them.

He unhitched the horse and turned them into the pole corral attached to the eaved-in barn.

He lifted his saddle from the seat of the buckboard and then reaching for a box of groceries, saw that riders had turned in toward the house. He carried the groceries to the door, set down the box.

Tate Hopkins was climbing down from his horse. Paul Partridge sat a black gelding easily.

"Hi, Ley," Partridge called. "So, you're Weber?"

"I'm your neighbor, Pete Rawlins. This is my foreman, Ches Mainwaring. You know Paul and Tate. Tate tells me you threw him out in the middle of the night."

Webster said carefully, "Is this a visit or a fight?"

Rawlins leaped heavily on his saddle pommel. "Paul tells me you and him came to town together."

"You might say we hummed together," Partridge chuckled. "Which reminds me, you won all my money today. That wasn't very friendly-like Weber."

"You've got a gun, Weber said pointedly. "You can take it away from me." He raised his hands a few inches, palms outward, to show that he was not wearing a gun.

Hopkins scowled. "He had a gun last night."

"Everybody's got a gun," Rawlins said, "only sometimes they don't wear them."

Weber made no reply to that. Hopkins, assuming that Weber was properly cowed, moved forward to get his possessions lying beside the door. He saw the box of groceries.

"G'rahnin," he grabbed the box, upended it so that the groceries spilled on the doorstep and onto the ground. He dumped his clothes into the box.

"At right if I take this box," he sneered to Weber.

"Hello yourself," said Weber. He walked forward carelessly and without warning smashed Hopkins in the face with his fist. Hopkins fell heavily, the carton of clothes spilling over him.

For a moment he lay stunned, then he let out a roar and struggled to his feet. "I'll kill you for that!"

He threw himself at Weber, who sidestepped and hit him high on the side of the head. Hopkins gasped and almost fell. He shook his head and moved in on Weber once more.

Weber took the blow on his arm and crossed with his right. He caught Hopkins squarely on the

Red Jones Files for Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Auditor Jimmy Red Jones filed today for re-election in the coming Democratic primary.

He issued a short statement in conjunction with the filing in which he said he would continue to give the same service as he has in his first term.

"I have strived to give the best, most efficient and complete service possible and shall do so at all times in the future," Jones said. Jones, 38, was born and reared in Magnolia.

Anti-recession Moves Frowned on by Ike

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has signalled his lieutenants in Congress to blow the whistle on the Democratic anti-recession plunge, a highly-placed Republican said today.

This source said the President passed the word at his weekly meeting with GOP congressional leaders at the White House Tuesday.

The President felt anti-recession measures were not getting adequate consideration, the source reported.

Block Early Moves
Taking the cue, Senate Republicans Tuesday successfully blocked plans of the Democratic leadership to pass a billion-dollar public works bill before the congressional Easter recess begins Friday.

Taking advantage of Democratic absences, including that of Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson who was in Texas, GOP senators forced postponement until April 14 of further consideration of the bill. The 41-39 delaying vote was almost entirely on party lines.

The measure would make available to communities one billion dollars in federal loans for a wide variety of local projects such as hospitals, streets and sewers.

In a move of its own, the administration announced today a speed-up in federal aid grants for similar projects under an existing program operated by the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The department said it was in creasing from 70 million to nearly 800 million dollars the amount of federal grants to be made available before June 30 for construction of medical research facilities, hospitals and municipal waste treatment plants.

One of the President's chief advisers said the administration fears too much new spending, coupled with a tax cut, would lead to a federal deficit of 10-15 billion dollars next year.

This official forecast "several" major vetoes by the President if the Democratic-led Congress pushes through big-spending programs deemed too far-reaching.

Agreement On Highways
There was no indication the go-slow drive would be applied to the $5,500,000,000 highway bill on which House and Senate negotiators reached agreement late yesterday, he measure passed the Senate with a heavy bipartisan majority.

Judge Ted Goldman who presides over Traffic Court in Texarkana received honorable mention award from the American Bar Association. This was the only court in Arkansas so honored. Only 41 such awards were given in the United States.

Painters Go on Walkout at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—About 75 to 100 painters and another approximately 100 tile workers and their helpers were not at work today in a dispute over pay raises.

W. H. Thomas, of Painters Local 424, said the situation is in "a state of suspension." He explained that the union and contractors have each made an offer, but no negotiations were underway at present. The contract of the painters and tile setters expired Monday night.

Thomas said the painters union wants 25 cents an hour increase over two years, with half of it effective immediately and the other half next April 1. The contractor wants to give 35 cents of the 25 cents increase now, and the rest in six months periods.

Thomas said he didn't think the painter would be out "but for a short time."

The tile workers are seeking 10 cents an hour increase for the next three years to give them an hourly pay of $3.25. The contractors want to pay 25 cents an hour, broken down to five cents every six months until the hourly pay of $3.25 is reached.

The tile helpers are seeking a contract recognizing them as semi-skilled labor.

Canada Will Act Against a Recession

MONTREAL (UP)—John Diefenbaker's progressive-conservative party had a national mandate today to launch a massive public works campaign against Canada's recession.

More than 6,420,000 voters answered Prime Minister Diefenbaker's plea for a "working majority" in the House of Commons by staging a coast-to-coast demonstration of unprecedented political unity.

They gave the Tory government at least 211 out of 265 Commons seats, far exceeding the most optimistic Conservative Party estimate. The Liberals salvaged only some 45 seats.

Diefenbaker promised to convene Parliament "at the earliest possible date." When he dissolved the 23rd Parliament Feb. 1, he mentioned May 5 as the date for the next opening.

The popular vote—at last count, 6,402,013—was below expectations and failed to match the record 6.6 million of last June. The Conservatives got 53.56 per cent of the total, the Liberals, 34.00. A third party, the CCF, got 9.24, and the Social Credit Party

GOPs Feel Ike Will Veto Flood Control Measure

WASHINGTON (UP) — Some congressional Republicans said today President Eisenhower probably will veto a bill authorizing the spending of $1,578,812,000 on river, harbor and flood control projects.

The omnibus measure was approved by the Senate, 52-11, Wednesday night and sent to the White House. It cleared the House in the same compromise form Monday.

The omnibus flood control bill includes the $33 million Millwood Dam project. A similar bill was killed by Eisenhower last year after Congressional approval.

The President vetoed similar legislation in 1956 on grounds that it contained many projects not approved by administration agencies.

It was understood that Budget Bureau spokesmen pointed out to Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders at Tuesday's weekly legislative conference that the same objections applied to this bill.

Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) said the executive agencies already have approved all but about 6 percent of the projects in the new omnibus bill. Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.) said he understood all 19 projects added to the original Senate-passed bill by the compromise had been approved by the Army Engineers.

However, Sen. Norris Cotton

Two Hempstead Highway Jobs Programmed

The State Highway Commission today programmed the improvement of seven miles on a secondary highway in Hempstead at an estimated cost of $210,000.

The project is on Highway 73 from the Cross Roads to Columbus and will consist of construction, grading, structures, base and surfacing. A contract will not be let until the following conditions have been met:

All required right-of-way free of obstructions will be furnished free of cost to the state; acceptance of the provisions by the County Judge of Hempstead within 60 days and requirements are furnished; program approval by the Bureau of Public Roads.

In other action the Commission programmed a maintenance project that will greatly improve service on Highway 67 in the city of Hope. The project is from Washington to Bonner Streets, a distance of 1.19 miles and will consist of work of resurfacing the existing pavement. Estimated cost of this project is $16,500.

Arkadelphia Farmer Held for Murder

ARKADELPHIA (UP)—A 57-year-old Clark county farmer was held today on a charge of degree murder in the death of his wife Feb. 25.

Clark County Prosecutor Travis Mathis said an autopsy showed the woman died of arsenic poisoning.

Murder charges were pending today on ST Joseph R. Renning, who was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Buren Hardin and Sergeant Milton Mosier State Police criminal investigator, of Hope.

Mrs. Ina Baird Renning, 53, was admitted to a hospital here Feb. 24 and died the next day. Mathis said he ordered an autopsy after a doctor who attended Mrs. Renning said he suspected she was poisoned.

Mathis said the state medical examiner at Little Rock issued a report indicating Mrs. Renning died of arsenic poisoning.

Renning, formerly of Miami, Fla. and Chicago, married Mrs. Renning last October.

Storm Warning Differs From a Forecast

This is the first of a series of five articles to explain the function of the Hempstead County Storm Warning System. Today we will explain the various types of storm warnings or forecasts that you can expect.

In the event of a severe storm forecast — this is the type of forecast so familiar to the people of this area — the S. Weather Bureau usually issues a forecast each year. Note that this is a forecast and not a warning. It simply informs that the possibility of severe storms exist over a wide area, usually several thousand square miles. If the added forecast "with the possibility of a few tornadoes" is issued with the severe storm forecast it means there is some possibility that a tornado or two could occur somewhere within the several thousand square mile area. The Hempstead County Storm Warning System will not issue an alert on this type of forecast. KXAR will inform the public of such conditions existing and with this public announcement, all spotters and officials of the Storm Warning System will be alert to the possible storms until the forecast is lifted. Under this type of forecast the public should continue business as usual.

Should a severe storm actually develop in this area, the Storm Warning System will go into operation. Tomorrow we will explain the methods used for alarm, and the type of storms that will cause a general alert.

Storm Strands Hundreds in High Sierra

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Hundreds of rail and highway travelers were stranded in the High Sierra today by a storm that raked California with torrential rains, hurricane-force winds and in impenetrable blanket of snow.

The storm — worst in a half century — was so severe that Gov. Goodwin Knight issued a proclamation making the whole state a disaster area.

Thousands of persons fled their homes in the San Francisco Bay area as rain-swollen creeks overflowed their banks.

The storm cost two lives. Richard Chase, 37, drowned when he slipped into swollen Ross Valley Creek in Marin County. In Lake Anderson near San Jose, William Valentin, 23, former University of California football player, was feared drowned when his canoe tipped over in the wind.

The storm moved down the Central Valley and into Southern California early today. As it did so, it left streams and rivers overflowing or nearly so, flooding thousands of acres of land.

At Stockton city officials braided themselves for a crisis. Meanwhile, Southern Pacific crews worked in the High Sierra Nevada Mountains, 38 miles east of Colfax, Calif., to free a mail trail from a snow slide.

The wreck halted the crack transcontinental streamliner, City of San Francisco, in a snowed-out near Norden, with 87 passengers aboard.

SP said the passengers aboard the westbound train were "comfortable" with heat and plenty to eat. The train was stopped only three miles from the spot where it was snowed in for several days in 1951.

Hill and Dunaway faced assault and battery charges today in municipal court.

Otho A. Cook, foreman of the Grand Jury, said the indictment closed the jury's investigation into the slugging.

Hill and Dunaway supposedly burst into Dauley's office after police seeking illegal gambling operations raided Hill's amusement company.

Pulaski County Prosecuting Attorney Frank Holt said he did not believe the indictment puts Hill and Dunaway in double jeopardy. He said the charge of assault against them by police was a separate and distinct offense from disturbing the peace, the charge made by the grand jury.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau warned today of a few severe thunderstorms with possibility of one or two tornadoes are expected today from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

The affected area extends from 60 miles on either side of a line from Flippin, Ark. to Memphis Tenn.

MARSHALL, Ark. (UP)—A tornado struck about a half mile north of Marshall about noon today, causing some property damage but no injuries. The twister struck a farm house owned by Mrs. H. G. Trece and destroyed but no one was home at the time. A room was blown off another house.

All went well until last Saturday when Smith was sent to a Loop bank to deposit $41,000 in checks and $180 in cash. He hasn't been seen since.

He's been heard from, however. On Monday morning diocesan officials received the checks in the mail and, on Tuesday, a money order for the $180.

"A lifetime habit is hard to break," Smith said in an accompanying note.

The ex-convict "must have acted on impulse," Mead said, first taking the money, later returning it on "his own initiative."

A call to Smith's parents and his parish priest disclosed that Smith has had no contact with them. Mead wants the repentant thief to come out of hiding and has promised there will be no prosecution.

"We probably would give him his job back," Montgomery said. "On second thought, we might get him a job somewhere else, where he won't be subject to the same temptation."

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Police Department of Houston is reported to have worked out the following 12 rules for raising delinquent children:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up "bad" or "dirty" words, laugh at him. That will make him think he is cute. He will run off and pick up some other words that will blow the top off your head.

3. Never give him any spiritual training until he is 21, then let him decide for himself. By the same logic, never teach him the English language. Maybe when he is old enough he may want to speak Banto.

4. Praise him in his presence to all neighbors, show how much smarter he is than the neighbors' children.

Thief Restores $41,000, Faith to a Church

CHICAGO (UP)—A repentant thief has restored two things to Episcopal church officials—$41,000 and faith in their fellow man.

There was even talk of giving the ex-convict, William A. Smith, 29, his old job at diocesan headquarters here.

Diocesan Treasurer Mead Montgomery admitted the church had taken a calculated risk when it hired Smith two months ago. Smith had just finished a prison term for stealing checks.

But Smith's parents and his parish priest were so persuasive, the church decided to give him another chance.

All went well until last Saturday when Smith was sent to a Loop bank to deposit $41,000 in checks and $180 in cash. He hasn't been seen since.

He's been heard from, however. On Monday morning diocesan officials received the checks in the mail and, on Tuesday, a money order for the $180.

Deadline Set for Filing of Petitions

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The attorney general's office today listed deadlines for filing petitions and other dates in connection with the Nov. 4 General Election.

The opinion requested by Secretary of State C. C. Hill said constitutional amendments submitted by the General Assembly must be advertised 26 times within six months before the General Election. That means they should be advertised the week beginning levying an ad valorem tax on property. The state now may levy up to 10 mills on property, but has not levied the tax since the 1947 Legislature.

Another proposed amendment would raise the salaries of members of the Legislature from $1,200 for a two-year term to $1,200 per year, plus $20 per day for each day the legislature is in regular session. The amendment would not change the five-cent per mile travel while the legislature is meeting.

The third amendment would allow cities and counties to levy a tax of not more than five mills by approval of a majority of the voters to secure and develop industry. Referred acts and initiated measures must be published four times within eight weeks before the election, starting the week of Sept. 7.

The 1957 act increasing the state sales tax from two to three percent will be on the ballot. Petitions calling for the referendum were circulated by A. H. Washburn, publisher of the Hope Star.

At least one initiated measure may be on the ballot. Former State Sen. James D. Johnson of Crossett is circulating petitions for the measure which deals with segregation in the state.

Initiated petitions must be filed with the secretary of state by July 5, or not less than four months before the election, and must be published once 30 days before the filing.

The attorney general's opinion said that candidates must file for ballot space for the general election by Sept. 20, except independent candidates who must file not later than Sept. 5.

Mexican Labor May Have to Be Imported

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Employment Security Administrator James L. Bland said today it is too early to anticipate whether Mexican laborers will have to be imported to help in cotton harvest next fall.

"It depends on the recession," he explained. "The International Paper Company might have to lay off some workers next week. Shoe plants across the state might have to close down."

His records showed 12,294 persons filed initial claims in March compared to 11,872 in February. A total of $1,577,000 was paid out in benefits, compared to $1,525,732 for the previous month.

Bland said every person applying for unemployment benefits or for a job will be asked if they will accept farm labor, and if not enough accept the work, the foreign workers will be brought in.

"We're going to expose every unemployed person to work on the farm and if there's not enough acceptance, we will import labor," Bland said. "We will import labor if we can't get enough domestics — it may be necessary. We must have workers to harvest the cotton crop."

Last year 5,482 of the foreign workers were brought in to help in cotton chopping, and 29,174 were used for cotton harvesting. They represented about 10.6 percent of those engaged in the chopping and about 28.9 percent of those who worked in the harvest.

The percentages in 1956 were 14 percent foreign laborers for chopping and 31 percent for harvesting, according to employment security records.

A breakdown by area showed among others 10,601 foreign workers were brought into the Blytheville area, 10,149 to the Jonesboro area, 2,925 to Forrest City, 1,594 to Newport, and 1,249 to West Memphis.

In 1956 a total of 13,000 Mexican laborers were imported for harvesting, but none for chopping. In 1951, the harvest number swelled to 30,700, then dropped to 28,956 in 1955. The number of Mexicans brought in for chopping in 1951 was 7,900 and in 1955 was 5,482.

Bland said cotton chopping starts around May 15 and he will be able to tell about then whether workers will have to be brought into the state to help harvest cotton.

He said a cotton picker today averages $7.50 a day "but some can make $15—it depends on the individual."

Bland said persons will be able to take farm work can apply to any of the 34 employment security division offices in the state. The local offices then will notify them of any job openings and after that it will be up to the worker. He couldn't say how many of the unemployed are willing to take the jobs, he employed factory workers would take, but "he wasn't too optimistic."

A man who was getting $20 a day won't want to work for $7.50, he explained.

Move Surprising as Leaders Did Not Approve

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The House today passed a compromise $5,500,000,000 anti-recession highway bill, containing a controversial anti-billboard provision.

House passage came on a roll call vote of 209-28.

Opposition to the bill collapsed after members rejected, 222-109, a motion to send the measure back to a House-Senate conference committee for further study.

The top-sided vote on this crucial test came as a surprise because Democratic and Republican leaders had passed the word that they were not pleased with the bill.

They had expected the bill to be re-committed.

House passage sent the compromise bill back to the Senate where it was expected to win fast approval, clearing the way for members to depart for a 10-day Easter recess.

House Democratic leaders who had been pushing for fast action on the anti-recession measure, lost their ardor for it when Senate-Souse negotiators unexpectedly inserted the controversial anti-billboard provision.

Legislative leaders opposed the measure's big spending features. But rank-and-file members of the House voted back home to block passage of the measure "just because."

New Technique Makes Possible Cancer Surgery

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—University of Wisconsin cancer researchers have disclosed a new "microscopic" chemotherapy technique which will enable operations on cancer patients "ordinarily considered inoperable."

Doctors and scientists at the university laboratory gave a progress report Wednesday to visiting science writers on their efforts to find the cause and cure for cancer.

The scientists also told of finding that one cancer-causing chemical can immunize animals against some other cancers, evidence that "feedback mechanisms" are disrupted in cancer cells and the discovery of a "strange" unidentified substance in leukemic blood.

Dr. Frederick B. Mohr, said chemotherapy can destroy hidden growths which cause cancer recurrence through removal of the cancers "under microscopic controls."

The method permits surgery on persons who have had X-ray and radium treatments and ordinary surgery without success, he said.

In another report, Dr. J. A. E. Miller, a husband and wife team, said hydrocarbons, which produce skin and other cancer, were found capable of protecting rats against liver cancer. However, the chemicals which cause cancer of the liver gave no protection against skin cancer, they said.

Dr. Van R. Potter said research indicates cells become cancerous when they lose their "feedback mechanism" which regulates the rate of cell division.

Potter said normal cells stop cell division when necessary, but in cancer cells "the feedback system never gets formed and the cells never quit dividing."

Dr. Harry Weismann reported that scientists have discovered a "strange substance in leukemic blood" while trying to find out why the skin color of leukemia victims darkens.

Cutting and working with plaids and stripes was the demonstration given by Mrs. Leslie Huckabee. The devotion was given by the hostess, and prayer offered by Mrs. Josie Mae Porterfield. "A Wonderful World" was sung by the group and the roll call, "What Can We Do For Our Community" was answered by Mrs. Howard Garner, Mrs. Vernon McMurry, Mrs. Verdo Powell, Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Huckabee and Mrs. Porterfield. Four visitors were present, Mrs. Curtis Cowart, Mrs. John Hacker Jr., Mrs. Jewel May and Mrs. Hays Archer.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting, by the hostess. Mrs. Josie Porterfield will be hostess to the group on May 6th.

Prescott District Nurses Association Meets In Hope
The Prescott Nurses Association which includes Pike, Clark, Hempstead, Nevada and Howard Counties met last night in the dining room of the Hempstead Memorial

THEIR FUTURE'S IN THE AIR—Seldom photographed Mary Pickford, at one time "America's Sweetheart," and her husband, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, seem pleased about the whole thing as they sign the final papers in Hollywood, for the purchase of a radio station in Wichita, Kans. Miss Pickford is slated to be chairman of the board of the new concern, while Rogers will serve as president.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Lady Surprised at Oldsters' Interest

Dear Dorothy Dix: Why am I more popular with older men than with boys my own age? I'm in high school, am considered pretty, have a nice figure and a good disposition, yet the boys in my class pass me up. I work in an office after school, and the men there seem to like me much more than the boys. I should attract. Why is this?
DAISY
Dear Daisy: The fact that you work part time indicates that you're more mature than girls your age and that you have less time to spend with your classmates. Perhaps you're more intelligent than boys your own age, perhaps you affect an air of superiority that scares them off. The fact that you're a working girl, sets you apart from your classmates as being "different." This will balance out after graduation when you meet young men your own age, or slightly older, on a more equitable basis. For the older men, you present the highest type of fascination—a young girl's freshness and prettiness with a mature woman's intelligence.

Hospital with ten members present and two guests, Dr. H. H. Holt of Nashville and David Verbel.

A film was shown entitled, "Disorder of the Heartbeat," by Mr. Verbel.

Cookies and coffee were served at the close of the meeting.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Mark waits me to go steady, promising not to go out with other boys, but he won't make the same promise about other girls. In fact he had a girl out last week, while I sat home watching TV. I love him and hate to break off. He says we'll get married when we graduate from high school but mother thinks I could do better and should get into the social whirl more.

Dear Scarlett: Mother is right. You'd be foolish to continue tying yourself down to a guy who doesn't appreciate honesty and fidelity; as long as he wants to roam the field you do likewise.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have wonderful parents, except for one thing Mother insists on waiting up for me when I go dancing or to a party. I'm 18, working, and feel 12:30 or 1 a.m. isn't too late for an occasional date. ANNABELLE
Dear Annabelle: Many mothers feel they aren't doing their maternal duty unless they hang out the window waiting for their youngsters to arrive home. When a mother can't trust an 18-year-old working girl, she's showing lack of confidence in the way she brought up her child. There's nothing you can do with her except be patient. Why not send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet entitled "Cautious Parents."

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 17, have been married a year, and have a six weeks old baby. I realize now that I missed a lot by marrying so young. My friends tell me about the good times they have in high school. I'd like to go back to school and lead a normal teen-age life like other girls. My husband is good to me, I love him dearly and adore our little boy, but I feel I'd be a better wife and mother if I finished my education. My mother-in-law would take care of the baby.

SUSAN H.
Dear Susan: When you said "I do a year ago, you thought you were pretty smart, didn't you? At that point, you gave up school and forever surrendered the life of a teen-ager. You can't pick up now where you left off. Nor can you shuffle your responsibilities off on an obliging mother-in-law. Your job now is to be a good wife and mother; when home duties permit, take up your education at night school — if you still wish, but high school now is out.

Bud Collier Has Different Opinion

By FRED DANIG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — Bud Collier, a former lawyer, registers a strong dissenting opinion today whenever he hears someone refer to him as the very model of a modern master of ceremonies.

Collier, whose wavy blond hair and glittering white smile have been illuminating our TV screens since the pre-Liberace days of 1947, says there are times when he can't stand himself.

"I never watch a kinescope of my shows if I can help it because I always see some mannerisms in myself that drive me wild. It's all my wife can do to restrain me and convince me I should stay in the business," said Collier as he relaxed in his dressing room after a hectic half-hour on CBS-TV.

Minority View
Collier's opinion, however, appears to be a minority view since he's one of the busiest emcees in the business. Along with the five-a-week "clock" shows, he does the Tuesday night panel show, "To Tell the Truth."

Of the two shows, he finds the latter is much easier for him. "I like it because I can sit down for a change. This is the first time I've been able to get off my feet since 'Quick As a Flash' a few years ago."

His main function, said Collier, is to help the contestant. "I just try to be sincere, put people completely at ease and convince them that I'm their friend. That's all I want to do."

"You know, for all our ridiculous stunts on 'Beat the Clock,' we never embarrass our contestants or abuse them. I don't like exploiting people. We're not striving for anything but to have fun. We try out the stunts on ourselves to make sure they're not degrading or dangerous. And, of course, when a contestant does a stunt, the audience cheers to see the rafters. They like to see us beaten at our own game. And that's what adds to the fun."

Studied Law
Collier paid his way through law school in New York with a $100-a-week job as an early-morning singer on a radio show. He kept up his show business contacts while working in a law of soap operas beckoned. He gave up law.

"I figured I could always fall back on the law if my luck ran out, so I read off and did soap operas. As I became known as an actor, the singing jobs dropped off. From 1948 to 1952 I played the part of 'Superman' on radio. In 1947 I emceed my first TV show, 'Winner Take All.' After that came 'Beat the Clock.'"

THE MAN OF TOMORROW—This artist's drawing may be a true picture of man in the 85th century. If predictions of biology professor Jay M. Savage work out. The University of Southern California professor foresees man becoming a bald, big-domed, spindle-legged, nearly toothless, bug-eyed sight. Savage arrived at his unflattering picture by projecting present trends of changes in the human form. Heads, he says, are already getting larger to house more brains. The bug eyes? From watching television, maybe?

WORLD'S FAIR STAMP—An aerial view of the United States Pavilion at the Brussels Universal and International Exhibition is featured on this three-cent stamp. To be issued in Detroit April 17th, the date on which the Brussels World's Fair opens, the stamp will be deep red in color, with lettering in white and dark-faced Gothic type.

Lane Will Move Indians Upward

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP) — Frank Lane has only started to shake up the Cleveland Indians and before he's finished, it's a safe bet he'll have them back in the first division of the American League.

Lane has a history of moving teams up wherever he goes. He did it with the White Sox and the Cardinals, and now he's busy doing it with the Indians, who finished sixth last year.

Lane's latest move was getting outfielder Larry Doby and Don Ferrarese, a left-handed curve baller, from Baltimore in exchange for Gene Woodling, Dick Williams and Bud Daley.

The Indians now are well set in the outfield with Minnie Minoso, in left, Doby in center and either Roger Maris or Rocky Colavito in right.

Pitching's Decisive
In the long run, however, the Indians' pitching will decide how high they finish this year.

The American Gaping Season Has Started

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — Spring these days brings out a new type of tourist — the one who'd rather gaze at art treasures of his neighbor than those in the Louvre.

From how until hot weather sets in, Americans will be rubber-necking other people's houses and gardens, and paying for the privilege. The tours are the latest method by which charity organizations, foundations, club and other groups raise funds for good causes.

For the price of a ticket, usually $5 or up, the curious may peer into the kitchens, gardens, residences generally and the art collections of the other half.

Everyone's in Act

Mrs. Roger Hull, president of the New York City Garden Club, says her group was one of the first in the country to use the tours as a means of raising funds. It held its initial visit to backyard and greenhouse gardens before World War II.

"Now," she said, "so many people are in the act the competition is really tough."

Secret of making a tour a success, says Mrs. Hull, is to include the home of at least one celebrity each season. "Generates a little more excitement," she explained. "I asked Mrs. Hull whether she thought those who made the tours were actually curious about gardens or just curious."

"Pretty generally the latter," she laughed. "If they were just interested in horticulture, they could go up to the New York Botanical Gardens for free."

Found The Bat

"I think it runs about fifty-fifty," said Mrs. John Marshall, chairman of the Tour Committee of the New York Radcliffe Club. "What amazes me is the number of men our tours draw. From one third to one-half," Radcliffe College alumnae each year run a tour of private art collections, with the proceeds going to scholarships.

Tours generally go along without incident, because of the careful planning of the committees. Most station a volunteer or hostess in each room, and have a head hostess for each house on the itinerary. Most also list the ground rules—no smoking inside, no children under 16, no touching the flowers or objects, etc. In short, don't make yourself at home.

What Happened to Fastest Skater?

By UNITED PRESS

Mush March, rated the fastest skater in hockey in his heyday as a pro, was small but potent. It was his overtime goal against the Detroit Red Wings that gave the Chicago Black Hawks their first Stanley Cup in 1933-34. March joined the Black Hawks direct from junior hockey in 1928-29 and played 16 seasons before hanging up his gear at the end of the 1943 campaign.

Whatever happened to Mush March? Now 50, he's a salesman for a Chicago ball bearing company and lives with his family at suburban North Riverside, Ill.

Proves Pets Can Be Polio Reservoir

By DELOS SMITH

United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — Science's long-held suspicion that various animals which live with people can serve as "reservoirs" of polio viruses has been proved against one species. This indicates quite strongly that what one species can do, others can do, too.

Type I polio virus was found in a budgerigar, which is the Australian parakeet or "love bird." This bird evidently infected its nine-year-old master with the virus, and the boy subsequently died of bulbar polio.

The confirmation complicates the prospects for an ultimate eradication of the disease in people. After all human beings are protected by the Salk vaccine, which is not a too remote goal, you would still have "reservoirs" of viruses around to attack human beings whose immunity had lapsed.

'Reservoirs' Suspected

Over the years such household and barnyard familiars as dogs, cats, and chickens have been suspected of being "reservoirs." Once, suspicion even pointed to the mole which, despite human objections is fond of living close to people. But none of these suspected "associations" was proved.

Two budgerigars lived in a cage in Glasgow. One came down with an illness which paralyzed its legs, and died. The other had leg paralysis, too, but began recovering. During its convalescence, it was allowed out of the cage.

Playfully it grabbed the boy's lip with its beak and held on. Seven days later the boy fell ill and two days later it was apparent he had bulbar polio. Four days later he died. Type I polio viruses were isolated from his stool.

No one thought of a connection at first. But about three weeks later, scientists of the University of Glasgow and the local health department investigated. Type I polio viruses were isolated from the bird's droppings.

Bird Had Virus

The bird was killed and its intestinal tract contained viruses. Because of their importance, Drs. I. C. Monro, R. C. Somerville, and C. C. Cuthbert reported these findings as a "preliminary communication" to the international technical journal, "The Lancet." Their "main purpose," they said, "is to draw attention once more to the possibility of transmission of poliomyelitis by domestic pets."

The significance was that not only had the bird been infected with the virus; it had excreted viruses capable of transmitting the disease to human beings, for at least three weeks.

Ex-mobster Faces Indictment

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Ex-mobster Mickey Cohen today faced a federal grand jury indictment on charges of assaulting Howard Chappell, chief of the Los Angeles office of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

The indictment came Wednesday as Cohen was embroiled in a defending himself against charges assault, battery and disturbing the peace last Jan. 28 in a Sunset Strip fracas with a waiter. If convicted, Cohen would receive three years in a federal prison, a $5,000 fine or both. He already has served a sentence on an income tax evasion conviction.

home. Mrs. Marshall said a couple of women did just that on a tour of the art collection of New York Gov. and Mrs. Averell Harriman. They wandered into the library, found a bar, and helped themselves.

Veterans Club Seeks to Re-open

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—The Downtown Veterans Club passed a resolution Tuesday night asking that it be allowed to re-open permanently.

Copies of the resolution went to the Pulaski County Grand Jury, Putaski Prosecuting Attorney J. Frank Holt, and John Fitch, director of the state alcoholic beverage control department.

A club spokesman said the club got permission from Circuit Judge William Kirby and Holt to hold the meeting.

The club was padlocked last week under an order of Judge Kirby on request of Holt.

The resolution said the club members believe they have operated within the spirit of the law and said veterans should be allowed the same club privileges as other groups and organizations.

Frank Hattom Jr. accompanied the Prescott Junior and Senior Band to De Queen Saturday where they attended the district band festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cox have had as their guest, Lee Burleson of Bearden.

Charles McKelvey and Mike McKelvey of Little Rock were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bemis and were accompanied home by Mrs. C. W. McKelvey, who has been a guest in the Bemis home the past two weeks.

Mrs. Ira Ward of Little Rock spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Karl King Jr. and family.

Ted Bemis, student at Lake Forest Academy at Lake Forest, Ill., is spending the spring holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bemis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robertson and Bobby of Little Rock were two week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guss McCaskill.

Miss Dorothy Wortham and Miss Doris Cochran of West Memphis spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Wortham. Friends at Mr. Wortham will be glad to know he has been moved to the Buchanan home after being a patient in the Coxa-Dennell hospital the past three weeks.

Miss Shirley Singleton of Dallas visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Singleton during the week end.

Dairy Supports Slash Savings to Consumers

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's slash in dairy support Tuesday produced immediate savings for consumers in many areas, a United Press spot check showed today.

Benson's order trimmed butterfat support prices for the marketing year beginning Tuesday to 56.6 cents a pound—a 2-cent reduction. Federal supports for "manufacturing" milk, used in making butter, cheese and other dairy products, were cut from $3.25 per hundredweight to $3.00.

Major New York City chains reported they reduced butter prices 2 cents a pound last week, anticipating the government action. Chain store spokesmen here said the drop in wholesale prices resulting from the support slash would be passed on to consumers.

Changes in fluid milk prices were complicated by the fact that there is a normal seasonal drop about this time in many areas as the spring "flush" producing season comes on, a Safeway Stores official here explained.

This spokesman said his firm was reducing prices of its premium brand milk in District of Columbia stores by cent a quart today, but added the decline was probably mostly due to seasonal factors. In New York A&P stores cut prices on all grades of fresh milk 1/2 cent a quart Tuesday and other chains were expected to follow.

In other major cities: Chicago—Jewel Tea stores began reducing butter prices from 2-6 cents a pound last week in expectation of the lower government supports.

Kansas City, Mo.—One chain reduced fresh milk prices two weeks ago and other major retailers have since matched the cut. The firm which led off the price-cutting, said it was done "in anticipation" of lower federal supports for farmers.

Boston—First National stores reported that the wholesale butter market has reflected the drop in federal supports for the past two weeks. The chain dropped its retail butter price from 68 to 67 cents a pound two weeks ago. Some other New England food stores, including the Stop and Shop chain, made the same cut March 1.

Atlanta—"Substantial" butter price cuts were expected in leading chains later this week. Fluid milk will not be reduced immediately because prices are controlled by a state milk control board formula which takes about three months to reflect changes.

Seattle, Wash.—No immediate price cuts reported by leading chains and several do not expect any. Spokesmen for one Washington state chain said they feared a butter shortage might send prices up.

Individual Savings Show an Increase

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—Individual savings accounts in state supervised banks at the end of 1957 totaled $105,326,600, a substantial gain over the end of 1956, state Bank Commissioner Dick Simpson said Tuesday.

Simpson said the time deposits at Dec. 31, 1957, totaled $85,591,500, or $19,735,100 less than Dec. 31, 1957.

Checking accounts, however, declined from $427,069,500 at the end of 1956 to $414,289,600, he said.

The commissioner said two reasons for the increase in savings accounts and the drop in checking accounts were the increased rates on the time deposits and the poor crop year for farmers.

He said 50 credit unions approved by the state had $2,597,647 on deposit at the end of last year. At the end of 1956 there were 41 approved unions with $2,000,492 on deposit, Simpson said.

Dancer Robbed of Two Deadly Snakes

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—A snake dancer was robbed of a red hat box that caged two deadly snakes early today.

Police immediately issued warnings that the cobra snake is poisonous and the 7-foot-long python also can kill.

Miss Nala Karamuru, 25, told police the snakes were kept in a hat box in her car. She said she discovered the box was missing from the parked car about 2 a.m.

The young Argentine woman said she used the snakes in a dance act at the Tic Tac night club on the "Debaliviere Strip," a night club area in St. Louis.

She said the cobra had been given an injection which temporarily counteracted the poisonous fangs, but the injection had no permanent effect.

Police recovered the poisonous cobra snake and a 7-foot-long python about 7 a.m. after five hours of searching yards in the area. Both snakes were in the box. The thief had vanished.

FINES FOR CHOPPING

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Tree chopping was made punishable by fine in the city of Haifa today. The fines, which will vary from $4 to $44 depending on the tree, will be used for planting new trees.

Russia Starts Attack Against West Germany

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia has launched a savage attack against West Germany as part of its attempt to force Allied suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

The attack was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in his speech to Parliament Monday announcing Russia's own decision to suspend such tests.

Gromyko asserted that in declining to accept American tactical atomic weapons, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his fellow leaders were "steering the country down the same fateful road which was once traveled by Hitler Germany."

Says Nazi World Influence

He charged that Nazis "wield great influence in the top political and military circles of Western Germany" and that Adenauer's policy constitutes a threat not only to Russia but to Germany's neighbors.

The attack was overshadowed by the melodramatic announcement of the decision to suspend nuclear weapons tests.

But it was perhaps the most ferocious attack that the Soviet government has made to date on Adenauer and his policy of cooperation with the other Western Allies in arming against the threat of Russian Communist aggression.

Following up Gromyko's speech, the Soviet Parliament sent a strong message to the West German Parliament warning that it was "suicidal" to accept American atomic weapons.

It also ordered the chairman of its two houses to send messages to the governments of all countries that fought against Germany in World War II, asking them to support Russia's position.

Thus Gromyko's blast apparently was merely the first move in a new campaign designed to rouse fear and suspicion of Germany in those countries, like France, which Hitler's armies invaded.

Despite the fact that Adenauer was an open enemy of Nazism in Hitler's day, Gromyko said that the tactical atomic weapons "are being made available to the forces that unleashed the second world war, which took the lives of tens of millions."

He insinuated that though supposedly any atomic weapons supplied to West Germany will be used only by authority, as the North Atlantic Treaty Command, the day might come when Germany would use them for its own purposes.

Would Block Vote on Bennett Law

PINE BLUFF (UP)—Attorney Wiley Bluff filed a petition in Jefferson court Tuesday to block a vote on the proposed passage of a Bennett ordinance in a special election April 8.

Branton claimed the ordinance has never been published in the newspapers according to law. He said the law states such proposed ordinances must be published at least 30 days prior to an election.

The Bennett ordinance, conceived by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, is designed to check the power of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People. It requires organizations to file membership and financial records with city officials.

Branton's petition will be heard in a hearing in circuit court but no date has been set.

Nat King Cole to Play Role of W. C. Handy

United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—"What's this," producer-writer Robert Smith asked W. C. Handy's secretary as he spotted the words, "Shine Like a Morning Star," pencilled across a sheet of music on the piano bench.

"Oh, that's just a hymn. I don't think you'd be interested in it. It's a spiritual and not part of the jazz," was the answer.

But Smith was persistent. And the result is "Morning Star," a haunting ballad which the public will hear for the first time in Nat King Cole's newest album which was released today.

"Morning Star" is but one of the compositions of the late Handy, known as the "father of the blues," which will be heard in the movie based on his life, "St. Louis Blues," to be released this month.

Cole Plays Handy

Smith, an independent producer at Paramount, spent a month at the Yonkers, N. Y., home of the 84-year-old blind composer a year ago to research material for the movie in which Cole plays Handy.

Others in the cast include Ella Fitzgerald, Cab Calloway, Eartha Kitt, Mahalia Jackson, Pearl Bailey, and 11-year-old Billy Preston.

"It was Handy's wish that the story of his life be filmed during his lifetime so he could 'see it,' Smith said. 'Fortunately, he attended a special screening of the picture in New York just three weeks before his death.'"

Handy died of bronchial pneumonia March 28.

In addition to "Morning Star," Handy's picture will include such music as his famed "St. Louis Blues," "Beale Street," "Careless Love," "Chantey les Bas," "Joe Turner," and "Yellow Dog Blues."

Trouble Clearing Rights

"We found it impossible to clear all the rights to his first blues song, 'Memphis Blues,'" Smith said when asked about its omission. "Handy wrote it originally as a campaign song for Tennessee political kingpin, Bessie Crump, 40 years ago. And when he sold it for $50 he didn't know he was signing away all his rights."

The producer said he decided upon "Yellow Dog Blues" as a replacement for "Memphis Blues" in the picture. "At the time, 'Yellow Dog' practically was unknown. But three months ago Lark Record Co. recorded it as an instrumental and since then it's sold half a million records."

Petit Jean Mountain was named for Jean la Caze, a French aristocrat who fled the Revolution with his wife and eight-year-old son.

Longer Life of Men Is Under Study

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—It still may be possible to prolong the lives of many men without at the same time making life intolerable by treading them with the veritable queen of female body hormones.

That hormone is estrogen which accounts for the more obvious female characteristics of body and mind. It may well be the most important one feminine chemical component which permits women to live longer than men.

For instance, women generally go through life with better conditioned arteries, lower blood pressures, and comparatively fewer heart attacks than men.

It is well known that when estrogen is given to men with hardened arteries and men who have had heart attacks, it changes their blood chemistry very much for the better.

One Drawback

But unhappily estrogen feminizes them, most dramatically by stimulating the dormant male mammary glands into development. It also robs them of normal masculine sexual drives. Needless to say, most men would rather die of heart attack, equally, in the past executive and stronger in men, the untoward and intolerable "side effects" were produced by as little as one thousandth of a gram given daily for not too many days.

But newly reported experiments indicate that as little as ten millionths of a gram daily will bring about the much-to-be desired changes in the blood chemistry. There is reason to believe that masculine body chemistry can tolerate that minute amount without being turned toward the feminine.

The experiments were conducted at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, by a scientific team headed by Prof. Jessie Marmorston and Oscar Magidson. The subjects were 20 women from 48 to 82 years old who had had at least one heart attack.

Rapid Change

The women were given tablets containing 10 millionths of a gram of estrogen daily. The blood chemistry measurements of all began changing for the better almost at once and were at their best six or seven months after the treatment began. The women were treated and observed for a maximum of 30 months and the measurements remained steadily on the good side all that time.

The scientists remarked, in reporting to the New England Journal of Medicine: "It seems evident that very small and very large doses of estrogen appear indistinguishable in their ultimate effects on blood chemistry."

They will make a full report on that when the work is completed, including, of course, the answer to the key question for men: are there still feminizing "side effects" even in doses of 10 millionths of a gram?

Judge Won't Dismiss a Murder Charge

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—Circuit Judge C. Floyd Huff denied a motion Tuesday to dismiss first degree murder charges against Jimmie Jones Jr., on grounds of double jeopardy.

Huff also ruled the case does not involve double jeopardy.

Jones, whose second trial was to start next Tuesday, is accused of the fatal shooting of nightclub owner George Stockton April 13, 1937.

His first trial was declared a mistrial.

Judge Huff said he would postpone the retrial. Arkansas Supreme Court rules on the case in the matter of double jeopardy.

Hos to Buy City Jail a New Lock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Louis Clout, 17, of North Little Rock, has to buy the city jail a new lock.

Municipal Judge Milton McJee Tuesday gave Clout until April 22 to pay for the lock, which was on a window in a cell occupied by Clout. The youth told the judge he put a rope out the jail window to signal for someone to leave him a cigarette.

He was released after being held on an open charge while authorities investigated a robbery.

Needless to say, most men would rather die of heart attack, equally, in the past executive and stronger in men, the untoward and intolerable "side effects" were produced by as little as one thousandth of a gram given daily for not too many days.

But newly reported experiments indicate that as little as ten millionths of a gram daily will bring about the much-to-be desired changes in the blood chemistry. There is reason to believe that masculine body chemistry can tolerate that minute amount without being turned toward the feminine.

The experiments were conducted at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, by a scientific team headed by Prof. Jessie Marmorston and Oscar Magidson. The subjects were 20 women from 48 to 82 years old who had had at least one heart attack.

Rapid Change

The women were given tablets containing 10 millionths of a gram of estrogen daily. The blood chemistry measurements of all began changing for the better almost at once and were at their best six or seven months after the treatment began. The women were treated and observed for a maximum of 30 months and the measurements remained steadily on the good side all that time.

The scientists remarked, in reporting to the New England Journal of Medicine: "It seems evident that very small and very large doses of estrogen appear indistinguishable in their ultimate effects on blood chemistry."

They will make a full report on that when the work is completed, including, of course, the answer to the key question for men: are there still feminizing "side effects" even in doses of 10 millionths of a gram?

Judge Won't Dismiss a Murder Charge

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—Circuit Judge C. Floyd Huff denied a motion Tuesday to dismiss first degree murder charges against Jimmie Jones Jr., on grounds of double jeopardy.

Huff also ruled the case does not involve double jeopardy.

Jones, whose second trial was to start next Tuesday, is accused of the fatal shooting of nightclub owner George Stockton April 13, 1937.

His first trial was declared a mistrial.

Judge Huff said he would postpone the retrial. Arkansas Supreme Court rules on the case in the matter of double jeopardy.

Hos to Buy City Jail a New Lock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Louis Clout, 17, of North Little Rock, has to buy the city jail a new lock.

Municipal Judge Milton McJee Tuesday gave Clout until April 22 to pay for the lock, which was on a window in a cell occupied by Clout. The youth told the judge he put a rope out the jail window to signal for someone to leave him a cigarette.

He was released after being held on an open charge while authorities investigated a robbery.

Apricot Bread

Sift together 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1/2 cup sugar. Cut in 1/4 cup butter or margarine until mixture is fine. Stir in 1 cup (6 ounces) finely diced dried apricots. Beat 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind until just blended; add to dry ingredients; stir until well mixed. Pour into a greased 9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 2 1/2-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 1 hour. Loaf is best when sliced and served one day after baking. Yield: 1 loaf, 9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches.

You should know this about baking

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Mullis to Run for Chancellor

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Pat H. Mullis, 48, of Pine Bluff announced today as a candidate for chancellor from the fourth circuit in the summer primary elections. He filed his corrupt practices pledge and paid his filing fee to Secretary of State C. G. Hall. Mullis had served as prosecuting attorney in Pine Bluff and Jefferson county for three terms. The post he is seeking is open since Joe Morrison of Stuttgart, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Carlton Harris is not eligible to run for election. Harris resigned to run for and was elected Chief Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court. Pine Bluff Municipal Judge Lawrence Dawson already had announced as a candidate for the

Cuban Troops Are Chasing Rebel Bands

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—Federal authorities tried to break up a hunger strike of 33 captured Cuban rebels today by separating the leaders and spitting them off to other jails in south Texas.

The Cubans, who have sworn they will starve themselves if the United States won't let them out of jail so they can go to their homeland and fight President Fulgencio Batista, are in the second week of their fast.

Fourteen are in Cameron County jail in Brownsville, 17 in Brownsville's Mercy Hospital, being fed intravenously, and the leaders in other south Texas jails, to which they were taken early today.

Rebel groups in New York, Chicago and Miami joined them in their hunger strike.

Although they were captured last Thursday, after a U.S. Coast Guard cutter rammed their 76-foot freighter, the El Orion, authorities said they hadn't eaten since last Tuesday, because of excitement or lack of time.

Being fed intravenously When they were jailed on federal charges of trying to export guns and ammunition, they refused to eat "in the name of liberty."

Federal authorities took Amado Barron, 34, New York, to Nueces County jail at Corpus Christi.

Mario Lacour, another leader; Dr. Carlos Torron, their physician, and the Rev. Ignacio Mosqueda Avila of Columbus, Ohio, their chaplain, were transferred to the Hidalgo County jail at Edinburg, Tex.

The 17 in the hospital are being fed intravenously at their own request. They figure they can accept intravenous feeding, which will keep them alive indefinitely, and not break an oath not to eat.

Meanwhile, at Winchester, Va., police held three men arrested in an allegedly stolen car with a cargo of knives, bayonets and a sawed-off shotgun. The three, who gave their names as Forest Lipscomb, Patrick Patterson and Harry Voelker, said they were part of an army of some 2,000 men being trained here to join the Castro forces.

Most of the men held at Brownsville are U.S. citizens and residents of New York. The wife of their leader, Mrs. Barron, said most of them fought for this country in World War II or Korea.

HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—Government troops are chasing two rebel bands through the mountains of Oriente province following a series of sharp clashes with troops of rebel leader Fidel Castro, the army announced today.

Communications with Santiago de Cuba were disrupted and it appeared a general strike was going into effect there. The situation inside the city was reported nearly normal but apparently traffic to and from the city had halted.

An army communique reported 16 rebels and one civilian killed in at least four clashes along major highways in the Oriente sector as the rebels tried to make good their threat of blocking communications in the area.

Reports from Santiago de Cuba said 45 American families there had asked the U.S. Navy to stand by off the coast as a protective measure and to remove them if Castro carried out his threat of "total war" against President Fulgencio Batista.

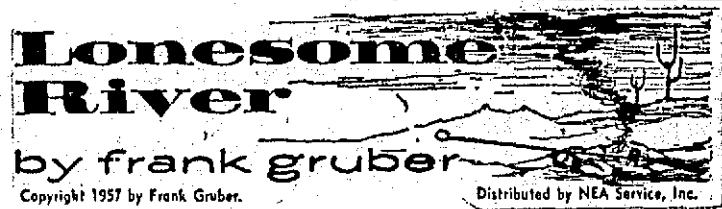

Government sources denied reports the rebels had captured the port of Manzanillo, a city of 100,000 about 50 miles west of Santiago.

Reports reaching the capital from Oriente province said American families, employees of the U. S. government-owned Nicaro nickel plant on the north coast of the province, had sent a request for naval aid to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

The fourth circuit is made up of Arkansas, Cleveland, Jefferson and Lincoln counties.

WHAT GIVES?—The marquee signs of a San Mateo, Calif., theater are a bit incongruous as they advertise a movie "adults only" and then a streamer underneath reading "Kiddie Matinee Today." Fortunately parents found out that the kiddie matinee was strictly cartoons so the younger set didn't have to miss its weekly movie.

THE STORY: Tom Weber has been told that his presence on his small ranch is not wanted. Now someone has set fire to his barn.

For years, a face had haunted Lily Barker; a lean, hungry-looking face, with cold blue eyes staring from it.

The face had receded into memory. Jeff Alderton had come into her life. The face of Tom Weber became a blur and yesterday, 11 years after she had last seen it, she had not remembered it at all.

Wearing Levi's boots and a so-called white shirt, she rode across Lebo, riding the river once with her legs thrust straight out ahead to keep from getting them wet. She was riding aimlessly for the sheer enjoyment of riding.

Then she saw Tom Weber near the house. He was crouched low, scratching the ground with a stick.

The thing he was scratching in the earth, she saw, was a map of Lobo Valley. She watched him a moment in silence as he traced a rectangular section in the north of the valley.

"No," she said then, "the farms don't run all through. Pete Rawlins' ranch divides the north farms from the south." She touched a tiny square in the north farm section.

"That's your father's place," He did not look at her and she added, "You saw him yesterday?"

"I saw him," Weber replied. "He was sober."

"Your father hasn't taken a drink in 11 years. Since—the day you went away," She hesitated. "Did you meet Helga?" When he made no reply, she gave him the answer to his unspoken question. "Your father's wife."

Weber got slowly to his feet. "Mrs. Alderton, when I left here 11 years ago, I put my father out of my mind. You tell me he hasn't had a drink in 11 years and that he is married to a woman named Helga. You know what that means to me? Nothing whatsoever."

"You don't mean that!" "Why," asked Weber, "why did you pay the taxes on this place?" She winced. "Mr. Eads shouldn't have told you." A shadow creased her forehead. "Your father and mine were friends. I couldn't stand the thought of your old home being

Flood Control Group Seeks More Funds

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Supporters of Arkansas basin flood control and navigation will battle for additional funds when they appear before appropriations committees in Congress next month.

That was made clear in a talk Tuesday by Glade R. Kirkpatrick, president of the Arkansas Basin Development Association, before the Tulsa chamber of commerce. Kirkpatrick said the tri-state supporters committee representing Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas will ask for more funds.

L. R. Airport Has a New Manager

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Little Rock Airport Commission said Tuesday Bob Chrisp, manager of the Fort Smith municipal airport, will become manager at Adams Field June 1.

Chrisp, 41, will replace Paul G. Leming, 70, who will retire after 28 years of service at the airport.

the house.

Weber picked up his gun, aimed in the general direction of the house and pulled the trigger. He fired two shots, crunched low, sped off a distance of a dozen feet.

The men took off from the house, each in a different direction, but they assembled westward and rode off in a clump. Weber listened carefully for a few moments, then went to the corral and saddled his own mount.

He was off within five minutes after the marauders had gone, but they were not out of sight. He suspected, however, that they would head in a westerly direction and after a few minutes, when he reached a clear open spot, he got down from his horse and searched the ground. He found the trail easily enough, made out that there were four horses.

When he finally reached the Rawlins ranch, the place was completely dark. This could mean, of course, that the raid on Weber's place was an unofficial one, with the sanction of Rawlins. He turned and rode back.

He had traveled perhaps two miles when the head of his mount suddenly came up. Weber, with an instinct for such things, dismounted quickly and stepping forward caught the nose of the horse and pressed together the nostrils, a deterrent to neighing. He led the animal to one side into a small clump of cottonwoods and stopped with his hand on the nose of the horse.

After a moment, his ears made out the clapping of horses' hoofs. He nodded grimly. The raiders had left his place, headed straight west, then circled away, to ride in another direction. They were only now returning.

There were four, all right, and as they passed within yards of Weber, he made out two of them. Paul Partridge and Tate Hopkins. He had never seen the others.

Russia Starts Attack Against West Germany

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia has launched a savage attack against West Germany as part of its attempt to force Allied suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

The attack was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in his speech to Parliament Monday announcing Russia's own decision to suspend such tests.

Gromyko asserted that in declining to accept American tactical atomic weapons, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his fellow leaders were "steering the country down the same fateful road which was once traveled by Hitler Germany."

Says Nazis Wield Influence

He charged that Nazis "wield great influence in the top political and military circles of Western Germany" and that Adenauer's policy constitutes a threat not only to Russia but to Germany's neighbors.

The attack was overshadowed by the melodramatic announcement of the decision to suspend nuclear weapons tests.

But it was perhaps the most ferocious attack that the Soviet government has made to date on Adenauer and his policy of cooperation with the other Western Allies in arming against the threat of Russian Communist aggression.

Following up Gromyko's speech, the Soviet Parliament sent a strong message to the West German Parliament warning that it was "suicidal" to accept American atomic weapons.

It also ordered the chairman of its two houses to send messages to the governments of all countries that fought against Germany in World War II, asking them to support Russia's position.

Thus Gromyko's blast apparently was merely the first move in a new campaign designed to rouse fear and suspicion of Germany in those countries, like France, which Hitler's armies invaded.

Despite the fact that Adenauer was an open enemy of Nazism in Hitler's day, Gromyko said that the tactical atomic weapons "are being made available to the forces that unleashed the second world war, which took the lives of tens of millions."

He insinuated that though supposedly any atomic weapons supplied to West Germany will be used only by authority, as the North Atlantic Treaty Command, the day might come when Germany would use them for its own purposes.

Would Block Vote on Bennett Law

PINE BLUFF (UP)—Attorney Wiley Branton filed a petition in Jefferson court Tuesday to block a vote on the proposed passage of a Bennett ordinance in a special election April 8.

Branton claimed the ordinance has never been published in the newspapers according to law. He said the law states such proposed ordinances must be published at least 30 days prior to an election.

The Bennett ordinance, conceived by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, is designed to check the power of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People. It requires organizations to file membership and financial records with city officials.

Branton's petition will be heard in a hearing in circuit court but no date has been set.

Longer Life of Men Is Under Study

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—It still may be possible to prolong the lives of many men without at the same time making life intolerable by treating them with the vertebrae queen of female body hormones.

That hormone is estrogen which accounts for the more obvious female characteristics of body and mind. It may well be the most important one feminine chemical component which permits women to live longer than men.

For instance, women generally go through life with better conditioned arteries, lower blood pressures, and comparatively fewer heart attacks than men.

It is well known that when estrogen is given to men with hardened arteries and men who have had heart attacks, it changes their blood chemistry very much for the better.

One Drawback

But unhappily estrogen feminizes them, most dramatically by stimulating the dormant male mammary glands into development. It also robs them of normal masculine sexual drives. Needless to say, most men would rather die of heart attack.

In the past executive and stronger in men, the untoward and intolerable "side effects" were produced by as little as one thousandth of a gram given daily for not too many days.

But newly reported experiments indicate that as little as ten millionths of a gram daily will bring about the much-to-be-desired changes in the blood chemistry. There is reason to believe that masculine body chemistry can tolerate that minute amount without being turned toward the feminine.

The experiments were conducted at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, by a scientific team headed by Prof. Jessie Marmorston and Oscar Magidson. The subjects were 20 women from 48 to 82 years old who had had at least one heart attack.

Rapid Change

The women were given tablets containing 10 millionths of a gram of estrogen daily. The blood chemistry measurements of all began changing for the better almost at once and were at their best six or seven months after the treatment began. The women were treated and observed for a maximum of 30 months and the measurements remained steadily on the good side all that time.

The scientists remarked, in reporting to the New England Journal of Medicine, "It seems evident that very small and very large doses of estrogen appear indistinguishable in their ultimate effects on blood chemistry."

They will make a full report on that when the work is completed, including, of course, the answer to the key question for men: are there still feminizing "side effects" even in doses of 10 millionths of a gram?

Judge Won't Dismiss a Murder Charge

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—Circuit Judge C. Floyd Huff denied a motion Tuesday to dismiss first degree murder charges against Jimmie Jones Jr., on grounds of double jeopardy.

Huff also ruled the case does not involve double jeopardy.

Jones, whose second trial was to start next Tuesday, is accused of the fatal shooting of nightclub owner George Stockton April 13, 1957.

His first trial was declared a mistrial.

Judge Huff said he would postpone the argument. Arkansas Supreme Court rules on the case in the matter of double jeopardy.

Sift together 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1/2 cup sugar. Cut in 1/2 cup butter or margarine until mixture is fine. Stir in 1 cup (6 ounces) finely diced dried apricots. Beat 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind until just blended; add to dry ingredients; stir until well mixed. Pour into a greased 9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 1 hour. Loaf is best when sliced and served one day after baking. Yield: 1 loaf, 9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches.

You should know this about baking

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Hos to Buy City Jail a New Lock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Louis Cloud, 17, of North Little Rock, has to buy the city jail a new lock.

Municipal Judge Milton McLees Tuesday gave Cloud until April 22 to pay for the lock, which was on a window in a cell occupied by Cloud. The youth told the judge he put a rope out the jail window to signal for someone to leave him a cigarette.

He was released after being held on an open charge while authorities investigated a robbery.

Mullis to Run for Chancellor

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Pat H. Mullis, 43, of Pine Bluff announced today as a candidate for chancellor from the fourth circuit in the summer primary elections. He filed his corrupt practices pledge and paid his filing fee to Secretary of State C. G. Hall.

Mullis had served as prosecuting attorney in Pine Bluff and Jefferson county for three terms. The post he is seeking is open, since Joe Morrison of Stuttgart, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Carlton Harris, is not eligible to run for election. Harris resigned to run for and was elected Chief Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Pine Bluff Municipal Judge Lawrence Dawson already had announced as a candidate for the

Cuban Troops Are Chasing Rebel Bands

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—Federal authorities tried to break up a hunger strike of 31 captured Cuban rebels today by separating the leaders and spurring them off to other jails in south Texas.

The Cubans, who have sworn they will starve themselves if the United States won't let them out of jail so they can go to their homeland and fight President Fulgencio Batista, are in the second week of their fast.

Fourteen are in Cameron County jail in Brownsville, 17 in Brownsville's Mercy Hospital, being fed intravenously, and the leaders, in other south Texas jails, to which they were taken early today.

Rebel groups in New York, Chicago and Miami joined them in their hunger strike.

Although they were captured last Thursday, after a U.S. Coast Guard cutter rammed their 70-foot freighter, the El Orion, authorities said they hadn't eaten since last Tuesday, because of excitement or lack of time.

Being fed intravenously

When they were jailed on federal charges of trying to export guns and ammunition, they refused to eat "in the name of liberty."

Federal authorities took Arnoldo Barron, 24, New York, to Nueces County jail at Corpus Christi. Mario Lacour, another leader; Dr. Carlos Torreau, their physician, and the Rev. Ignacio Mosqueda Avalla of Columbus, Ohio, their chaplain, were transferred to the Hidalgo County jail at Edinburg, Tex.

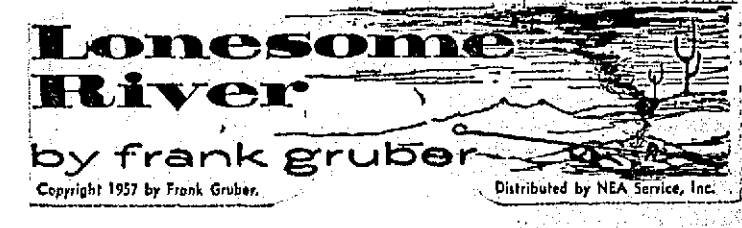

The 17 in the hospital are being fed intravenously at their own request. They figure they can accept intravenous feeding, which will keep them alive indefinitely, and not break an oath not to eat.

Meanwhile, at Winchester, Va., police held three men arrested in an allegedly stolen car with a cargo of knives, bayonets and a sawed-off shotgun. The three, who gave their names as Forest Lipscomb, Patrick Patterson and Harry Volker, said they were part of an army of some 2,000 men being trained here to join the Castro forces.

Most of the men held at Brownsville are U.S. citizens and residents of New York. The wife of their leader, Mrs. Barron, said most of them fought for this country in World War II or Korea.

WHAT GIVES?—The marquee signs of a San Mateo, Calif., theater are a bit incongruous as they advertise a movie "adults only" and then a streamer underneath reading "Kidnap Today." Fortunately parents found out that the kiddie matinee was strictly cartoons so the younger set didn't have to miss its weekly movie.

THE STORY: Tom Weber has been told that his presence on his small ranch is not wanted. Now someone has set fire to his barn.

X

For years, a face had haunted Lily Barker; a lean, hungry-looking face, with cold blue eyes staring from it.

The face had receded into memory. Jeff Alderton had come into her life. The face of Tom Weber became a blue—and yesterday, 11 years after she had last seen it, she had not remembered it at all.

Wearing Levi's boots and a soiled white shirt, she rode across Lobo riding the river once with her legs thrust straight out ahead to keep from getting them wet. She was riding aimlessly for the sheer enjoyment of riding.

Then she saw Tom Weber near the house. He was crouched low, scratching the ground with a stick.

The thing he was scratching in the earth, she saw, was a map of Lobo Valley. She watched him a moment in silence as he traced a rectangular section in the north of the valley.

"No," she said then, "the farms don't run all through. Pete Rawlins' ranch divides the north farms from the south." She touched a tiny square in the north farm section.

"That's your father's place." He did not look at her and she added, "You saw him yesterday?"

"I saw him," Weber replied. "He was sober."

"Your father hasn't taken a drink in 11 years. Since—the day you went away." She hesitated. "Did you meet Helga?" When he made no reply, she gave him the answer to his unspoken question. "Your father's wife."

Weber got slowly to his feet. "Mrs. Alderton, when I left here 11 years ago, I put my father out of my mind. You tell me, he hasn't had a drink in 11 years and that he is married to a woman named Helga. You know what that means to me? Nothing whatsoever."

"You don't mean that?"

"Why," asked Weber, "why did you pay the taxes on this place?" She waved a hand. "Mr. Eads shouldn't have told you." A shadow creased her forehead.

"Your father and mine were friends. I couldn't stand the thought of your old home being

Flood Control Group Seeks More Funds

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Supporters of Arkansas basin flood control and navigation will battle for additional funds when they appear before appropriations committees in Congress next month.

That was made clear in a talk Tuesday by Glade R. Kirkpatrick, president of the Arkansas Basin Development Association, before the Tulsa chamber of commerce.

Kirkpatrick said the tri-state supporters committee representing Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas will ask for more funds.

L. R. Airport Has a New Manager

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Little Rock Airport Commission said Tuesday Bob Christ, manager of the Fort Smith municipal airport, will become manager at Adams Field June 1.

Christ, 41, will replace Paul G. Leming, 70, who will retire after 28 years of service at the airport.

the house.

Weber picked up his gun, aimed in the general direction of the house and pulled the trigger. He fired two shots, crouched low, sped off a distance of a dozen feet.

The men took off from the house, each in a different direction, but they assembled westward and rode off in a clump. Weber listened carefully for a few moments, then went to the corral and saddled his own mount.

He was off within five minutes after the marauders had gone, but they were not out of sight. He suspected, however, that they would head in a westerly direction and after a few minutes, when he reached a clear open spot, he got down from his horse and searched the ground. He found the trail easily enough, made out that there were four horses.

When he finally reached the Rawlins ranch, the place was completely dark. This could mean, of course, that the raid on Weber's place was an unofficial one, with the sanction of Rawlins. He turned and rode back.

He had traveled perhaps two miles when the head of his mount suddenly came up. Weber, with an instinct for such things, dismounted quickly and stepping forward caught the nose of the horse and pressed together the nostrils, a deterrent to neighing. He led the animal to one side into a small clump of cottonwoods and stopped with his hand on the nose of the horse.

After a moment, his ears made out the clasp-clapping of horses' hoofs. He nodded grimly. The raiders had left his place, headed straight west, then circled away, to ride in another direction. They were only now returning.

There were four, all right, and as they passed within yards of Weber, he made out two of them. Paul Partridge and Tate Hopkins. He had never seen the others.
